WASHINGTON, DC - On Thursday, January 14th, 2010, U.S. Rep. Michael Arcuri (NY-24) will be in Seneca County to discuss legislation he introduced in Congress to eliminate the cost-sharing requirements local economic development projects in communities impacted by military base realignment and closures (BRAC) This legislation would benefit the Seneca County IDA in their work on developing the Seneca Army Depot.

Arcuri was also able to secure $200,000 in federal funding for the Seneca County Industrial Development Agency (IDA) to demolish two buildings at the Former Seneca Army Depot that are currently hampering potential future development. These buildings are also adjacent to a parcel used by the State Police for training and pose safety concerns. This project will aid the redevelopment of the Depot and remove unsafe structures, creating approximately 10 construction jobs during the demolition.

Arcuri will also spend his day in Seneca County on Thursday at Seneca Falls High School and Waterloo High School addressing student on current events.
